

SUPPORTING EXPORTERS THROUGH COVID-19

Dear Reader,

We know for many of you that the outbreak of the Coronavirus disease (COVID-19), has taken its toll on business operations. Here at CCC we remain open for business and committed to supporting our customers through this challenging period while working remotely.

As Canadians, we are fully aware that we are all in this together. CCC is supporting Canada's domestic needs by working closely with the Government of Canada. To this end, if you offer a product or service that could help Canada combat COVID-19, please reach out to the Government of Canada through the links below.

It will take a truly global effort to respond to the COVID-19 situation, to support public health systems and lead our economies through to a more stable period. CCC was created to be nimble in its ability to contract in times of urgent need. Our government-to-government contracting model can facilitate urgent procurements in times such as these. We are available to help Canadian companies beyond our traditional sectors to include provision of medical equipment and supplies; agricultural products and food supplies; or, other emergency response products and services. Should you have an inquiry from a buyer outside of Canada, we can help - please contact us.

If you are just discovering CCC, we are happy to work with you if you have specific needs or ideas related to supporting either the Canadian government or other governments in the present crisis.

We are here to help, so visit our website for the latest information, follow us on LinkedIn, or contact us via email.
